The months are flying past so fast, gosh, October already!

By the time this edition is distributed we would have already stood on the sidelines and cheered on the teams at the Fraser Coast Technology Challenge, many pages would have been written during Lines in the Sand, the Fraser Lions would have celebrated their 32nd year at the Per Festival, and the Maryborough Open House and Gardens will be over for another year. All of these events will create memories that we will talk about for a long time to come, as we look forward to these same events next year. Memories are so precious, capture those moments!

Every day we are blessed to be alive, to breathe the air, to feel the breeze or the heat of the sun, to appreciate the little things. These things should never be taken for granted. Sometimes we all get so caught up in the day to day grind that we forget to LIVE!

Don't feel guilty for doing something for YOU as each and every one of you are so important in this life.

Before you start each day, get out, look around you, make eye contact with others, appreciate, have gratitude and...BREATHE!

With so many events on this month don't forget to share your event photos with us via our Facebook page or by emailing them to whatsonfrasercoast@outlook.com.

Remember, whatever you choose to do choose to enjoy it!

Cheers,
Kim Farnell

MUSIC

To move you

The Maryborough Regional Arts Council is once again bringing a delightful and exciting performance to Maryborough.

Recent arrival, Anastasia Bickel has fallen in love with Maryborough's beautiful old Queenslanders and is busily restoring her new home here. Anastasia said, "I moved to Maryborough in February this year because I fell in love with the beautiful Queenslanders and the friendly vibe.

I often go busking and sing opera songs at markets and on the main street. People are so supportive".

She has just been named the 2019 winner of the Deutsch Oper Berlin Award by the Opera Foundation for Young Australians and will be joining Deutsch Oper for their 2020-2021 season. She has recently returned to Australia after a one-year contract as a mezzo-contralto at Theater Basel in Switzerland where she performed in a wide variety of roles.

The Arts Council is delighted to have been able to engage this enchanting young singer for one of their regular performances at the Brolga Theatre for an evening of classic arias and duets.

Anastasia will be joined by Irena Lysluk who is a Brisbane based Soprano, a graduate of the Queensland Conservatorium of Music and has worked extensively with Opera Queensland.

Their accompanist, Mark Connors, has a Bachelor of Music from Griffith University. He is the Musical Director of the Underground Opera Company and Brisbane City Opera. He is an accompanist for a number of community choirs throughout Brisbane and has recently completed a tour with Opera Australia.

"I think many people love the pureness and strength of the operatic voice. They are moved by the strong emotions and the beautiful melodies.

We have chosen many famous pieces to share with the lovely Maryborough audience. It should be an enjoyable evening", Anastasia said.

The Maryborough Regional Arts Council aims to bring high-quality arts experiences to Maryborough and this evening will be no exception. The bright and well-known works will be offered in the Brolga Foyer, with the opportunity to enjoy the riverside ambience and a glass of wine from the Bar.

STOMPING IVORIES

Band members are:

Murray Sheridan - on Drums and Vocal
Greg Agar and Hugh Murry on Piano and vocals

I often feel privileged having the opportunity to interview or have a conversation with some of our most talented musicians, and Hugh Murry was no exception. He took me to New Orleans, and to Nashville as we talked about music, history and the Stomping Ivories ... a show that you won't want to miss! Kim Parnell

Tell us a little about the background of Stomping Ivories, how did the band form?

The Stomping Ivories formed quite organically. I had been on tour in America with a band of mine and we played a couple of times in New Orleans we ended up in a venue called Pat O'Brien's which is where the two pianos thing started back in the 1930s. This was where the idea came from.

Greg Agar and Murry Sheridan were the first to tour with me, the show took us to old halls and theatres in regional areas. Eventually, Greg got signed to Sony and we went our separate ways for a while. We had so much fun doing the show though that four years later we got back together.

The combination of three singers, two pianos and a drum kit make our band creatively interesting. It is always a challenge to try to do these amazing songs that we love but with two pianos and a drum kit.

What kind of music do you play?

Our catchphrase in the past has been Growin and the Gags but we play anything from classic Elton John to Honky Tonk, New Orleans and INXS. We also do 'Bohemian Rhapsody'. Depending on the gig people may be able to ask for requests. The big part of the fun with this is that our song list covers about 500 songs, so we never know exactly what's going to happen. The shows are always structured enough - though we ensure that there is enough room for us to move. It makes each show have spontaneous energy.

As a singer - songwriter, you have co-written songs with Keith Urban and INXS to name a few. Tell us a little about the experience?

I was based in and out of Nashville for about ten years and I was managed by Greg Shaw, another Brisbane boy. So, Keith and I were managed by the same guy, at the same time. We all hung out at Nashville together. I did some recording with The Ranch, Keith's band when he was first on Capitol in Nashville. We wrote a song together called 'Yeah She Does', the song was recorded by a couple of artists both in Nashville and in Australia. Keith is very talented, seeing him on the guitar early on made me realise you have to get your shit together as a musician.

I have also worked with Kirk Pengilly from INXS, among other things we co-wrote an album together.

Greg Agar has a long list of achievements as well. He is an ARIA award winner and also co-wrote a song called 'Hey Baby Doll' that Al Pacino ended up singing in the movie 'Danny Collins'.

Murry Sheridan has also won an ARIA for his work as a drummer he has worked with The Vines and Christine Anu among many others.

What is the songwriting process like for you?

I like a really strong song title idea, it then becomes a bit like a crossword where musically and lyrically you are filling in the pieces to bring the title alive. It gives me something to work towards, to make the title punch and make sense to whoever is singing it.

What can people expect if they come to see your show?

I am very excited as I have never been to Hervey Bay before. Our show is an inclusive show. We try to encourage people to sing along, at times it can appear intimate depending on what we are singing. It is a bit like hanging out in New Orleans and having a big right out. We have a great night on stage and those in the audience will have a great night too. So, come along for a spontaneous singalong.

I hear that you love gardening, what's the appeal?

(Laughter) I love hedges I have a bit of a hedge fetish...it began when I was in Nashville. Now I have a farm on the mid-north coast of NSW. If I need some space in my head I will go out and prune the hedges.

10,000 Steps – Good for you or Marketing Hype?

With the continual rise of pedometers, and now wearable devices that track movement, the ease of recording daily activity has never been easier. The most popular movement of the decade has been the 10,000 step challenge but here is something that is not common knowledge, the 10,000 steps rule didn't originate from much scientific evidence, rather, it is the translation of a Japanese word, "manpo-kei", which was the name of a pedometer!

Despite the origin, it should still be considered an influential program. Information gathered in 2008 showed that nearly two thirds of Australians are not meeting the required activity levels which can lead to chronic, low movement illnesses (diabetes, obesity, heart disease). Deeper investigation into the numbers shows that those in lower socio-economic areas are more likely to be less active, too.

Places like Kawungan State School have done a great job in selling the benefits of activity to their students and staff by cleverly incorporating the program into their work week. The PE teacher encourages staff to work in teams to accrue their steps throughout the week, and then distributes a weekly newsletter to provide support and maintain interest. Additionally, fun activities like Teachers vs students basketball, football or other sports are incorporated to remove any "those-like" feeling from the program. The staff support and encourage each other in the program, enhancing the likelihood of adherence while moving toward a healthier workplace.

Remember that better health is a process, though, and that you if you have not been exercising regularly, you should not aim to walk out the door right now and do 10,000 steps. The best way to make this a long-term activity is to start with 1,000-1,500 steps per day and then try to build to 10,000. While you are on your journey, be sure to look at completing some strength training (twice per week) to improve overall health and reduce your risk of developing a myriad of long-term conditions.

A journey of a thousand miles begins with a single step, so why not start your journey toward better health with 10,000 steps per day?

Zucchini & Fetta Tart

At Ankara Gardens Cafe Restaurant, we are exceptionally proud of our breakfast service. Our peaceful garden setting is a really special place to start your day, and we have been working hard to create some menu items for our guests, beyond the bacon and eggs "big breakfasts" we see everywhere.

We're open for delicious breakfasts 7 days a week from 8am Saturday & Sunday to 8.30 am Monday to Friday, and would love to have more guests visit peaceful Ankara Gardens Cafe Restaurant for a fix of "Melbourne Breakfast" goodness like our Zucchini Fetta Tart:

Beekeepers

CAN HELP SAVE OUR PLANET

By Evon Binney

Did you know that something as simple as becoming a beekeeper can help save our planet from destruction?

Albert Einstein predicted: If the bee disappeared off the surface of the globe, then man would have only four years of life left. No more bees, no more pollination, no more plants, no more animals, no more man.

Bees have been a part of Chris Hall's life for a long time and he is super keen to meet up with other Beeks. People like Chris and his mate Neil, are doing their part as beekeepers and to further their vision recently formed a bee club in the Hervey Bay area called Fraser Coast Beekeepers.

Chris said, "We want to keep the group as informal as possible and we aren't interested in the formalities such as meetings, minutes and added costs associated with many clubs".

Of course, the topic each month will be bees, bees and more bees which is not really surprising.

"Our first field day on the 14th September at Toocoom was a great success and we look forward to many more," said Chris. For the field days, Chris asks that you please bring your own protective gear. All other tools will be provided for disease control.

Prospective beekeepers are very welcome to attend the field days, and all are asked to bring something to share with a cuppa.

Any queries please either message Chris 0411422355 or call Neil 0428932211

If you want to know more about the club's events go to

BLOOD-CURDLING THEATRE AT ITS BEST!

Enjoy some Blood-curdling entertainment as Professor Van Helsing and his brave comrades must hunt down and destroy the profoundly evil Count Dracula. With a talented cast bringing to life this age old tale, this show is sure to be a scream.

The brave Van Helsing (Damien Pearce) is the ringleader in this morose hunt. Joining him is the grieving Seward (Jackson Douglas), the fierce Harker (Elliot Ashton) and the lovely Lucy (Taylor Dunn). Together they work to take down the evil Dracula, played by Stuart Waters.

With the help, or hindrance of many other colourful characters, the doctors assistant, Sullivan (Chasca Thompson), the caretaker Briggs (Shane King), the crazed lunatic Renfield (Jonathan Sharp), and the newly turned Mina (Sarah Callendar), their task will not be an easy one.

With three beautiful brides, (Tiffany Youngs, Shanika Bernard, and Amelia Garrett) and three child vampires (Sienna Edmondston, Tia and Mai Faccio) they certainly add to this tale of horror.

This is a story of humanity, of grief and loss, but also of victory, love and triumph. Full of action, wonderful light and sound effects, and an incredible makeup team, it is sure to make you sit on the edge of your seats.

With a talented cast, crew, and directors putting in endless work, it is a project we are all proud of, and extend an invitation for you to join us and see what we have created.

ART EXHIBITION

EARLY

by Emma Thorp

Artist Profile

Emma Thorp is a digital and mixed media artist who works with acrylics and coloured pencil on paper. Favouring sharp, high contrast images, she uses layering techniques reminiscent of prisma-making in her drawings. She has been living in Queensland for 10 years, the past 6 of those years on the Fraser Coast. The bulk of Emma's work is self-narrative, often incorporating her family and the beautiful natural environment of Hervey Bay, Queensland. She also enjoys creating botanical drawings of the plants in her garden.

Exhibition Profile

"Early" by Emma Thorp

Exhibition Dates: October 18 to November 25
Opening Night: Friday October 25, 6pm
Exhibition Venue: Hervey Bay Regional Gallery

Early is a mixed media works on paper exhibit that explores premature birth, Autism and ADHD. The works chronicle my personal journey from the birth of my son, through hospitalization, continuing therapies and diagnosis with Autism and ADHD. It presents an honest look into the effects upon the family unit. It also celebrates the joy that comes with exposure to an Autistic mind. By illustrating my memories, I am attempting to allow a glimpse into a world that can often be very insular, private and all-consuming.

Trumpeter EAMON DILWORTH brings his quartet to the Bay

Eamon Dilworth is an Australian trumpeter, composer, vocalist and educator. He performs with artists across the contemporary music spectrum with a sound inspired by the likes of Wynton Marsalis, Dave Douglas, Mathias Eick and Leroy Jones.

Mentored by trumpet great Bob Cossin, Dilworth studied jazz at the Sydney Conservatorium of Music under Mike Nock, Judy Bailey, Phil Slater and Dale Barlow in addition to private tuition with the likes of Scott Tinkler, Ambrose Akinmusire and the late John Taylor. Since graduating in 2009, Dilworth has maintained an ongoing performance, composition, recording and touring schedule with various acts.

Dilworth has released three critically acclaimed albums of his own original jazz music: The Dilworths (2003 Jazzgroove Records), Tiny Hearts (2015 Alivium Records) and Vata (2018 independent). He has toured these projects across Australia and New Zealand including Wanganella Jazz Festival. He was a finalist of the 2010 Young Australian Jazz Artist of the Year at the Bell Awards and the 2007 James Morrison Scholarship and the winner of the 2000 Berkeley College of Music Umbria Jazz Clinic Scholarship.

Dilworth is also a member/farmer member of acts including Tijuana Cartel (electronic/world), Canavara Sun (rock) and Australian punk royalty Ed Kuepper and The Aints! He has also performed with Ager, Jessica Mauboy, Guy Sebastian and Gotye.

This diversity of musical experience has culminated in the creation of Dilworth's New Orleans-inspired project, the Crawfish Po-Boys. Their forthcoming release showcases his talents as a songwriter and vocalist and brings together some of Australia's finest jazz and blues musicians. Dilworth is also an educator and mentor to the next generation of jazz artists, teaching in various schools both as a trumpet teacher and ensemble leader.

"Esquisite... in reaching into himself and finding ways to express what he finds there in music, he has found a voice at once entirely individual and yet, universal."

A NIGHT AT THE BALLET WITH

Swan Lake

The Imperial Russian Ballet Company returns to Australia with Swan Lake...the most loved classical ballet of them all. This masterpiece ballet is presented in two acts and follows the original storyline. Subtle revisions and variations have been introduced by Gedinimas Taranda, Artistic Director of the Imperial Russian Ballet Company. Swan Lake crosses the world of magic and mystical creatures with that of the real world. It is a story where the virtues of love and forgiveness in the end conquer evil and betrayal.

Imperial Russian Ballet Company

The Imperial Russian Ballet Company was formed in 1994 by the Bolshoi Theatre soloist, Gedinimas Taranda. They have combined the unity and integrity of the great Russian Ballet Schools where traditions are passed on from one generation to another. The founders of the company acknowledge and respect the Russian Imperial dynasty which has made such a contribution to the development of the arts and in establishing the system of Imperial theatres including the Bolshoi and the Marius theatres. The prime choreographic style adopted by the Company is a classical one, however they also indulge in modern dance. Their stage repertoire is based on the combination of classical masterpieces and modern choreographic pieces.

PART 3 - FINAL

OUR ITALIAN ADVENTURE

By Jan Carlson

Three train rides, with a short stop in Pisa to see the leaning tower - followed by driving up a windy dirt track, saw us arriving tired and hungry at our Tuscan villa - Torraia di Chiusi located 30 kms from the famous hill town San Gimignano. An amazing five course degustation dinner cooked by host Stefano was accompanied by local wine and Jill's consumption of our glasses of Crappa, which the three of us declined... and ended with her dancing in the vineyard!

Next morning, I drove to San Gimignano due to Jill's previous evenings' imbibing. Before long Jill found the 'dream' boots she had been searching for in the 'Unusual Shoes' shop! It was a lovely relaxing day wandering through the many laneways except for some unplanned detours on the way home with bonus great views from hilltops!

Dinner was a freshly cooked pork roll and local white wine from the markets in San Gimignano.

The next day our first stop was a two-hour drive to the hill town of Cortona. We were met with such beautiful views. Medieval characters roamed the streets and colourful displays of gelato were surpassed only by our highly anticipated visit to 'Bramisole' - the location for the movie 'Under the Tuscan Sun'. Jill and I have both watched this movie many times and it was on our 'must do' list.

Arriving in Volterra we found ourselves in the middle of an ancient traditional celebration with teams parading colourful flags and participating in a tug of war competition. A group of regally clad Lords and Ladies presided over the festivities led by the Town Crier. Stumbling across this fascinating spectacle was one of those special moments.

We also found time to buy a pair of boots each - Jill's came from 'The Shoe Factory' where the artisan was at work.

Day twenty started out with a drive to Siena's historic centre to see the unusual semicircular Piazza del Campo with its huge bell tower and curved domed buildings. This was then followed by a train to Firenze where we checked in to our apartment half a block away from the famous Duomo. We sat at a cafe most of the afternoon admiring the buildings which are so different with their intricate green and white marble construction.

Our first full day in Firenze started with Michelangelo's statue of David at Galleria dell'Accademia - Jill's reaction 'his hands and feet are so big!' Climbing the 142 steps in the Bell Tower was next - our exhausting effort was rewarded with great views of Firenze. Next stop was the famous Ponte Vecchio which rated another WOW from Jill. We shared pizza and wine a good economical lunch option.

Taking back streets on our return, (no we weren't lost - just not sure where we were!) we stumbled across the Adam leather factory shop where Bob and I had bought leather jackets seventeen years ago - the same man Micky (the owner) who served us then was still there - to my amazement he remembered us. We both think that Bob was with us guiding us to that shop that day!

Day twenty-two was the day of our Italian cooking class where we were met by our chef Walter for a tour of the markets before the class. Donning aprons to prepare a four-course meal of bruschetta, chicken, pasta and panna cotta was not only fun but enjoyable to eat. The busy day was topped off with an entertaining opera concert in a local church.

After a relaxing morning, we did a little more leather shopping and I visited Giuseppe for a new Italian hair style. An early night and packing followed.

Parma was our last sightseeing effort visiting a Parmigiano Reggiano cheese manufacturer and a 4th generation family owned Parma ham factory before catching two trains back to Milano.

Our last night saw us sadly packing one last time for the long flight home while already planning our next overseas adventure!

WITH LEAH

It's Party Time!

Spring is in the air, I can sniff it on our prevailing south-easterly breeze, and with that comes event season! Yayyyy I hear some of us yelp, whilst painful groans come from the majority! Now, I realise that this will sound incredibly predictable, but my top tip in regards to the silly season, is be prepared! Let's break this down...

Know what events you have coming up and have a vision of how you'll present yourself. Sounds super simple, but the more I chat with women, this is the number one reason why women loathe this season. They didn't have a vision for how they wanted to look, the event came up all too quickly and they just shopped for something last minute- creating the most rushed, stressed platform for their special event.

For example, I know this chic who is producing and hosting a red fashion show upcoming at Coast Restaurant on the 27th October (a few tickets are still available I hear!). That gives nearly a month to have a vision for what you want to wear! Be it fancy nancy or super simple and chic, have a vision- one that suits YOU!

If simple, chic and comfortable is your fave, then embrace that unreservedly. Just remember that there will be women who look at your style and comment 'I wish I could pull off that effortless look'. Alternatively, if fancy nancy is your thing, then embrace it- it's your chance to illuminate!

For myself personally, I usually start with a single item in regards to the entire look. Be that a head piece, a pair of heels, an accessory or the rock itself, I usually create a look based on that single item as the catalyst for the whole vision. I also like to 'bend' the rules to what's acceptable regarding the dress code at events. In my little world, who says I can't wear a pair of shorts, a blazer and heels to a formal event! If you're more this way inclined, then feel free to embrace it! Be unpredictable with your intended vision and plan it out.

The other topic to point out here is labels and costs. I love high-end fashion, it's a fact! I love what the art designers bring to the table with their designs. But I absolutely love when a lady can come up with an epic outfit and pay nearly nothing for it! I love both these ways to style equally. The point is, these special events are a platform for us to feel absolutely wonderful at them. It's a time to express ourselves through fashion and feel fabulous doing it. Whether it's Gucci or H&M, plan it, wear it and feel 'absolutely fabulous daaaaaring' in it!

If inspiration for your special events is what you seek, I'm keen for a chat anytime xx

Tickets for my upcoming 'Spring Fashion Brunch' on Sunday 27th October are still available.

There's nothing like Homemade!

The Handmade Expo Market is the largest handmade market in Queensland and has been operating for ten years. Having recently changed ownership, new Owner Michelle Murphy took over the markets in May this year and has hit the ground running, with a lot of focus on the Fraser Coast.

We have had an amazing following on the Fraser Coast since first opening in May 2017 and it has just kept growing. The idea to have two venues on the Fraser Coast is because of the popularity of the Hervey Bay Market. We want to share it around the whole region.

The Handmade Revolution is real and amazing, women are taking an idea of a hobby and turning it into a micro business. It's happening all around us. People are turning away from the constant imports and looking for quality & uniqueness that you only get with handmade. It has a flow on effect in the local economy with supplies and tools bought in the local area, products are also made and then sold locally.

We don't just set up market and leave it at that. We encourage cross promotion with other stalls and assist with ways to expand and build on your business. This can mean encouraging stall holders to approach various businesses to get their work into local shops and galleries like Hatch, Herbourside Gift Gallery, The Wandering Teapot or the new shop Vine. We also encourage them to start up workshops to teach their skills and generate more of an income stream between markets, and to seek out professionals like Community Cubed for assistance in business building.

We have amazing talented people all around our region, from Guralda, Bauple, Tiers, Howard, Pacific Haven, Sunshine Acres, Toogoom and Burrum Heads, so it just seems to be the natural fit to share the Market dates between both towns.

The Handmade Expo Fraser Coast is the very best in Handmade, hand baked, homegrown and Australian small business from around the Fraser Coast & beyond making sure you always have the latest trends in Handmade at your finger tips.

Being the family along and enjoy a coffee and great food, there is lots to keep the kids amused. Whilst exploring the 80+ stalls, you may even be a lucky winner of one of our many prize packs or giveaways!

If you would like to join our amazing Team You can register to be a stall holder at www.thehandmadeexpo.com.au

A COCKTAIL OF Circus Cabaret WITH A RAUNCHY TWIST!

BEHIND THE LENS WITH

Ellen Foulds

While photographer and artist Ellen Foulds was born and raised in the Philippines, she has spent a lot of time in Queensland over the years and has called Hervey Bay home since 2012. Having completed a couple of photography workshops in the Philippines the rest was self-taught.

Since moving to Hervey Bay Ellen has been photographing the scenes every single day chasing sunrises and sunsets and chasing the colours. She has come a long way from the girl with the suitcase of postcards. Ellen said, "I printed thousands of postcards, popped them in a suitcase and walked up and down the Esplanade trying to sell them".

Well lucky for her, somebody did buy them. In fact, they bought the whole suitcase of postcards and other businesses soon followed. Ellen has been promoting the city ever since! After introducing herself to other groups and organisations around town she met Vanida Petts who was then working at the Hervey Bay Regional Gallery and convinced Ellen to have her very first photographic exhibition at the Gallery. "The first image was of the Fraser Coast Cultural Centre, and was named 'Starry Starry Night'". It created a lot of attention and was featured on the front cover of the newspaper at the time", said Ellen.

The next step was taking the leap and opening a gallery, this was achieved when 'E!fotography Hervey Bay' opened at the Marina in the arcade in April 2016, before moving to its current location in Blideford St, Torquay.

The gallery has grown over the years and offers many services. With its fully equipped studio all kinds of photography can be taken, portrait, shots, and passport photos are very popular. Here you can also buy souvenirs from Hervey Bay. Photography workshops are also on offer. Other services provided are - Drone photography, video, any kind of photo shoot, photo restoration and retouching, digital printing and graphic design.

Also sold are Canon photography equipment and accessories. Ellen said, "I always recommend Canon as it is a great brand to use, especially for beginners as they are very user friendly. I actually do a beginners photography package, this includes a free three-hour private lesson a camera, two lenses and all of the accessories to get you started".

My dream was to open a gallery; I am thrilled to have achieved this! - Ellen Foulds

Double Barrelled Whisky Night!

The scene was set last month at the Hervey Bay Boat Club for the Double Barrelled Whisky Night. It was a night of premium whisky paired with a delicious spring menu.

Guests enjoyed a five course meal that included - A Rack of Lamb, marinated with virgin olive oil, fresh herbs and spices, served with a vibrant Mediterranean salad.
